

WANTS EXPERT TO STUDY DISTRIBUTION OF WATER

Present Mains Are Not Adequate to Prevent Serious Conflagration.

COMPLETE SURVEY IS DESIRED
Council Committee Asks $1,500 to Employ Competent Engineer to Go Over Whole Problem of Water Supply for Fire and Domestic Use.

Declaring its belief that the present water distribution system should be extensively altered and added to, in order to insure adequate fire protection, the Council Committee on Public Buildings, Properties and Utilities last night recommended to the Council that $1,500 be appropriated to employ a competent engineer to make a complete survey of the water supply and submit a plan of betterment.

The recommendation was embodied in a report submitted to the full committee by the subcommittee on the subject, which the water distribution problem was referred for investigation more than eight months ago.

The subcommittee was composed of councilmen Mills (chairman), Alderman and their colleagues, Councilmen Atkinson. It submitted a report of its activities, bringing out the testimony of experts in the employ of the National Board of Fire Underwriters to the effect that the city's congested value district is situated under a high conflagration hazard.

URGENT INVESTIGATION
The fire hazard recommended in the committee's report, attracted the attention of Mayor Anshutz, who recommended a thorough investigation of the water distribution system in his first message to the Council. He drew attention to it again in his second message. The National Board of Fire Underwriters early in 1913 made a comprehensive survey of local conditions, and located two well-defined congested value districts—one in the city section on Broad Street, and the other in the lower Main Street localities—which, in its opinion, were inadequately protected against fire.

After summarizing the evidence presented to the subcommittee at the public hearings on the question, the report, which was adopted by the Council, recommended that the full committee continue its study of the problem.

Four committees were not feel that it was sufficient to make a plan of construction, but in convinced that there must be adequate protection to the present water distribution system if the city is to have adequate fire protection and eliminate the possibility of a serious conflagration.

NEED COMPREHENSIVE PLAN FOR YEARS TO COME
The growth of the city and the annexation of additional territory add to the problem of distribution for both fire and domestic supply, and the committee is of the opinion that a comprehensive plan should be made providing adequate protection for the future needs and for an economic and safe extension to keep pace with the growth of the city.

Your committee, therefore, recommends the employment of a competent engineer, by and under the supervision of the Administrative Board, to make a thorough investigation of conditions as they are and lay out a plan as indicated above, showing what changes and additions should be made at once and estimating their cost, and that $1,500, or as much more as may be needed, be appropriated to defray the cost of such investigation and report.

The committee also recommended to the Council that a resolution be introduced in the Board of Aldermen by Alderman Powell, of Madison Ward, to the effect that Young Men's Hebrew Association free water, not to exceed 600,000 cubic feet a year, to be delivered to the building of the association at 412 North Eighth Street. Water in excess of this allowance will be charged at the regular meter rates. The resolution will be presented for passage at the meeting of the Common Council to-night.

Asked if the prohibition law, which went into effect in West Virginia July 1, is being rigidly enforced by the city and county authorities, Mr. Reed replied with a smile: "West Virginia is theoretically dry."

The visiting Secretary of State spent an hour in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, during which Chief Clerk James H. Two Suspects Held as Possible Assassins of Policeman G. C. Epps
Other Arrests Expected.
Search for members of the midnight mob who attacked and injured the Constable G. C. Epps in Ginter Park last Friday was by no means being abandoned by Henrico County officers, but so far the arrest of two suspects represents the total reward of efforts on the part of the police to apprehend the guilty ones. Clues are in the possession of the officers, and until they are thoroughly investigated the search will continue.

Constable Epps was reported last night to be recovering at his home, 1107 Oak Street, and it is thought that within the next few days he will be able to visit the Henrico Jail and see whether he is able to identify George Haskerville and William Bowling, the two negro suspects who have been arrested. The constable's injuries consist in cuts and bruises inflicted by members of the mob, and he is recovering when he was carrying to jail a negro whom he had arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct.

County officers Monday night made an organized effort to arrest other suspects, but without success. It is said that fully twenty-five or thirty negroes composed the mob.

Specifying that his gift must be placed in the hands of "direct descendants," the late General Fitzhugh Lee, Judge John Lee, of the Supreme Court, recently forwarded a small Confederate battle flag to Governor Stuart, who has written the Governor, evidently apprehensive lest the relic, which has treasured so many years fall into other hands than those for which he intended it.

Judge Johnson gives the history of the miniature battle flag of the Confederacy in his letter. The flag was taken by W. P. Johnson, his brother, from the residence of General Lee in Arlington, near the end of the War Between the States. W. P.
